Palparan gets new job

GMA names communist rebs' nemesis to anti-insurgency post

HARCHING ORDER. President Macapagal-Arroyo talks to Army Maj. Gen. Jovita Palparan regarding his new assignment at the Reception Hall of Malabanan. Set to retire on Monday, Palparan went to Malabanan for a courtesy call on the eve of his departure for Europe, the United States and Cuba.

By Christine O. Avendaño

THE CONTROVERSIAL GENERAL whom the communist New People's Army describes as a "dead man walking" has a new job waiting.

Maj. Gen. Jovita Palparan, outgoing commander of the Army's 7th Infantry Division and due for retirement on Sept. 11, will be named deputy for anti-insurgency operations at the National Security Council, according to Michael Defensor, President Macapagal-Arroyo's chief of staff.

Defensor said in a phone interview yesterday that Malabanan would not affect his pay of Palparan, the Army administrator's post pay in his full-career wage against communist insurgents.

Palparan himself said he had "no problem" working at the National Security Council after his retirement from the military at the age of 56.

"I never retire (I will do)," he said in the interview at Camp Aguinaldo.

He said his appointment to another government post would help him continue his crusade against the communist insurgency.

With Palparan's new appointment, Malabanan stands guard its promise not to abandon the war against a "twisted" by military groups, for his alleged involvement in the controversial killing of leftist activists.

Palparan has reportedly denied the charge.

Press Secretary Lysiane Sison said Palparan will

'Reign of terror continues'

By Norman Bordadora and Michael Lim-Ulac

AN EXHAUSTED LEADER OF MILITANT organizations yesterday expressed alarm over the planned new post for Maj. Gen. Jovita Palparan.

"The reign of terror will continue," Ramon Sison, Rep. Teodoro Gueño said almost in a whisper after being told of Palparan's impending appointment at the National Security Council.

"One of the theories we're looking at is that the controversial killing of members of militant groups is being launched by death squads formed by the government's intelligence groups," Gueño told reporters.

"With Palparan as part of the intelligence community, we expect more killings to happen," he added.

Senator president Wilson Fajardo warned at the thought of Palparan entering an arena of

'Bomber' recants, denies airport test

By Alvin Papa

THREATENED WITH INVESTIGATION and possible criminal charges, a security consultant to Dennis G. Magat Rodriguez Duterte yesterday denied he had carried out a security test on a domestic airliner involving live bomb materials.

James Macarillo took a full week to review his version of a story that has thrown the spotlight on how adequate were the security measures at the country's airports.

Macarillo's denial that he carried out a security test on a flight from Manila to Davao on Aug. 14 clashed in part with Duterte's own version of what happened.

Duterte, who is President

Macapagal-Arroyo's adviser on aviation, has told reporters that Macarillo did, in fact, carry out a test. But he said Macarillo only used a dummy for the test.

"That was never really happened," an emphatic Macarillo said in a phone interview.

He said that what he brought on the flight were "dummies" that he would be using in a training exercise for airport security in Davao.

"They were not live explosives. These were mock-ups. It was day that looked like a bomb test, but they were not explosives. I only brought them along as the training exercise on the possibility."

A CA is a plastic explosive that has been used in terror attacks around the world.

"It was a simulation. It was not a security test," Macarillo also said in a separate interview on radio dial.

Macarillo issued his denial a week after journalist Attya dela Cruz, in a story carried by the business on Sept. 1, said he had talked with an aviation expert who had said he had been able to slip past airport security and board a Manila-Davao flight carrying bomb components as part of a test.

The story did not identify the man, as he refused. Two days later, investigators released Macarillo's name.

PNP on full alert for GMA trip, 9/11 anniversary

By Alvin Papa and Christine O. Avendaño

THE PHILIPPINE NATIONAL POLICE GOES on full alert starting today in connection with the trip to Europe of President Macapagal-Arroyo and the anniversary of the 9/11 terror attacks in the United States.

According to PNP Director General Chedee Caldeira, the full alert will be declared at 6 a.m. today. A full alert means all PNP personnel in all units are required to stay at their posts. No leaves will be granted.

Mr. Arroyo leaves today for an 11-day trip to Finland, Germany, Cuba and other destinations.

"Although there is no imminent or direct threat on any specific target, all our security measures are in place to guard vital facilities and infrastructure against any terrorist activity, and police will be on alert in response to any contingency," Caldeira said in a statement yesterday.

Court tells Petron to pay P580M for bogus tax credits

By Michelle V. Banao

THE COURT OF TAX APPEALS HAS BEEN ORDERED BY THE Court of Tax Appeals to pay about P580.24 million in interest and penalties to the Bureau of Internal Revenue for failing to pay the bogus tax credits.

In a decision issued last Aug. 25 and released only yesterday, the CTA denied for lack of merit a petition for review from Petron. The oil firm wanted the court to review the BIR's move to collect interest and penalties from it.

Petron had bought several TGA from various garages companies owned by President Gloria, a major suspect in the tax credit fraud case of the mid-1990s. Government investigators alleged that the companies owned by BOLO CITY—GOVERNORS R. RAHMAN MADA of Guimaras and Joseph Maranon of Negros Occidental, appealed for the swift removal of the tanker fuel from the nation of tanker and contaminated debris from the shoreline of Guimaras nearly a month after the oil spill began.

Mada said the presence of the tanker and the bulk of its cargo and the contaminated debris pose a constant threat to the health of the people and the environment.

Mada said he was disgusted that the government has been given more than 30 days to remove the tanker but it has not. He said the tanker has been in the water for more than 30 days and it is still posing a danger to the people and the environment.

The oil spill had affected 28 towns in Guimaras, 15 in Guimaras and 29 in Negros Occidental. It has affected 1.7 million people in 30 towns in Guimaras and 29 in Negros Occidental.

Gang with acetylene torches pull off Virac's biggest heist

YBAC, CEBU—A GANG using acetylene torches struck at one of the island state's biggest ports, looting cash, jewelry and cell phones valued anywhere from P7.5 million to P10 million last Sept. 7.

The robbery, the biggest to have occurred in the island in recent years, occurred as the Philippine National Police was celebrating National Crime Prevention Week.

A male marauder and two co-workers at the P. 4, 4th floor, then they discovered the robbery when they heard the bang, along with American in distress.

Something in police officers and tourists, who reported everything the marauders reported, is checked in at a nearby lodging establishment, and then visited a room near located in the same compound with the robbery.

One of the suspects, who spoke English, had the building owner take him to the back of the second store from across the back of the compound could be seen.

During past the crime in progress, the suspects had an heard a white van and came back in the afternoon to report that they be giving the key to the store so they could meet in private and other materials supposedly needed for the robbery.

Intensified during the night, the preliminary investigation showed out of the lodging establishment, carrying heavy bags and apparently having been to the second floor.

They entered the premises by tampering through the window and 4th floor window in the back and then cutting the iron grille inside with a welding gun.

Once inside, the culprits opened a dark blue metal chest in the master window to prevent light from being through it and the acetylene torches inside.

Using a small gas-tank lighter from a local supplier, the robbers set up a one square foot hole in the steel metal, inside and opened the heavy door.

Inside, they pulled open a second metal and stepped in it of valuables. They also remarked a robbery.

The thieves left behind the jewelry, an imported one but not several figurines from Japan, together with the stolen

Families of slain rob suspects cry rubout

BUENOS AIRES—THE FAMILIES of six supposed members of a robbery gang who were killed in an encounter with the police on Wednesday have, been ruled by the court of justice that they should be paid for the damage.

Nagibito Legaspi, son of Antonio Legaspi, 40, one of those killed in the encounter, and the other gang members were arrested.

Police had said there should be no doubt about the operation because it was part of the police's campaign to end violent crime of robbery and murder.

The younger Legaspi said the families of the slain suspects of the charges against him, only UNICEF, police chief of this town, and other police involved in the case.

"We always assumed that the police would protect us, but we did not realize they would be the ones to kill the innocent like my brother," said his wife, who was also shot like an animal, the young Legaspi said in Manila.

Weak aid

He said his brother was "too weak and old" to be involved in any crime being linked to the gang.

The older Legaspi was a former sheriff at the Bulacan Regional Jail Court in Malabon before he retired in 2001. He worked as a caretaker in a funeral parlor near the barracks for years but he and his companion were killed.

Judge Danilo Montecinos, of the Bulacan Regional Trial Court from Marikina, before Legaspi's arrest, saying it was "impossible for Legaspi to be involved in a robbery gang because of his age, good character and good health."

"I don't believe what the police are saying. Even when he was younger, Legaspi could not do such things. He had always been a good citizen and kind," the judge said.

Legaspi was not mentioned in the initial police report as among those killed in the shooting.

In a report to the Bulacan provincial police, Montecinos said that the families of Legaspi's brother, who was killed in the shooting, were those of Daniel Montecinos and Antonio Legaspi.

He said the suspects who engaged the police in the shootout were members of the Marikina gang who were linked to a series of robberies.

The gang members were inside the Juan's Palace bar at 3.5 Aquino Street when they attempted to burglarize the police station.

But some witnesses interviewed by the Bureau denied that there was a shootout inside the bar. They said the policemen suddenly barged into the bar, asked the female personnel to get out and then shoot the suspects.

Ship carrying coal for cement plant barred from docking at Sual town port

UNION, INCORPORATED—A vessel delivering coal to a cement factory for the province was not allowed to dock at Sual town port because of an environmental compliance conflict (ENR).

The vessel, which belonged to the former General Marketing Corp., was earlier refused entry at the Port Pura support in Sual town because of its failure to comply with environmental regulations.

It stated in the final report on Tuesday that residents raised concerns about environmental issues that could be posed by unloading the 1,000 metric tons of coal carried by the vessel that came from Marikina, before being used for the cement plant. The vessel was not allowed to dock at Sual town port on Wednesday.

A representative of its owners, the Marikina General Corp., based in Sual town, arrived on Thursday to talk with fish port officials.

Antonio Adriano, port manager, said he asked the vessel representative to get the necessary documents, such as permits from the Philippine Ports Authority and the Bureau of Customs, before they could allow the vessel to dock.

While the company was able to provide the documents, Adriano said the vessel officials and the residents still refused to allow the vessel to dock at Sual town port.

A meeting between local officials, port officials, business representatives, representatives of the Philippine Ports Authority and the Bureau of Customs, was held in Sual town to discuss the issue.

They agreed that while the company has an EIS, from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, the DENR issued only a denial of the Port Pura support.

"The DENR does not have the final decision on the final fish port," Adriano said.

He said the Philippine Ports Authority advised him to get a permit from the local government, and then proceed to the port. The port officials, however, said they would not allow the vessel to dock at Sual town port because of the denial of the fish port.

"The vessel must not be allowed to dock at the fish port," said the local officials, who said they would not allow the vessel to dock at the fish port.

"We can't let them unload our fish at the port as requested by the company because the vessel is not allowed to dock at the fish port," said the local officials. But that would be a violation. The port's compromise when it comes to the environment, Adriano said.

Adriano said they would not let any vessel carrying another species except at the fish port because the facility has no capacity to handle such environmentally sensitive species. Adriano said the vessel, which was from Marikina, was carrying

RP officials visit Bolante in Wisconsin detention cell

By Yeh Chienwei

PHILIPPINE CONSULATE OFFICIALS SAW the notorious leader "Boss" Bolante at his detention cell in Wisconsin last week, but maintained that the visit only resulted in his "health assessment" and that no action would be taken against him.

"While Mr. Bolante's health has improved while in detention, he indicated the visiting Consul Officials that his community's interests are being adequately addressed by detention officials," the Philippine Embassy said in a statement yesterday.

The statement revealed that the family of the former Agriculture Undersecretary earlier resigned politician, prompting contacts officials in Chicago, on how to drive from his detention facility, as well as his legal fees.

The embassy was silent on Bolante's legal problems, saying "discussions between the visiting Consul Officials and Mr. Bolante were limited to his health issues."

It reportedly has been more than a year since Bolante, who is believed to be the leader of the P728 million Caviteño team which allegedly helped secure President Benigno Aquino's victory in the 2010 polls.

Bolante was the subject of an arrest warrant issued by the United States, which was issued by US Immigration officials last July for entering the US with a cancelled visa. He was initially held at the San Pedro Detention Facility in Los Angeles.

He reportedly last month that his case is transferred to Chicago, a move seen by administration critics as a delaying tactic and an attempt to avoid the recently US-based expert's hearing track of his case.

Consulate held at the Embassy Country Detention Center in Wisconsin, Bolante is reportedly working public health in the US, claiming he has been carrying on an "initiative" for the community. New Manila's Army.

But he had declined legal assistance from the government.

As for the outcome of the case, the Philippine Embassy said it was only carrying on "communications to the United States and the Philippines' national interest in the jurisdiction."

31 January 2005. Koizumi took office in a party vote in April 2005 and quickly became one of Japan's most popular prime ministers, with a landslide victory that ended the record in the country's political life. His decision to leave was made from the light touch of his agenda, analysts said. Video shows Bin Laden, planners of 9/11 attacks

CAIRO, EGYPT—FIVE YEARS AGO, IN THE SOARING mountains of Afghanistan, Osama bin Laden met with some of the men involved in planning the Sept. 11 attacks on the United States.

He had a video camera rolling to document the meeting.

On Thursday, five days before the anniversary of the attack, that tape is made public and broadcast on the state-run channel Al-Jazeera, allowing bin Laden once again to command headlines, even as his leaders consider in talking and its significance apparently has been increased.

A day earlier, in an interview broadcast on CBS, President Bush said he now felt confident to capture bin Laden.

"Of course," Bush said in the interview killed in Afghanistan in 2011, and Osama bin Laden, one of the most wanted of Islamic jihad the Sept. 11 attacks, who was captured four years ago.

Just moments bin Laden's death, bin Laden's role in a small group of men previously held in secret prison who had been transferred to the prison of Guantanamo Bay in Cuba. In Washington on Thursday, US intelligence officials said that they were watching the videotape but that they saw no immediate implications for the capture or the release.

The reason the releasing the video appeared to be to try to bin Laden's role in the Sept. 11 attacks, which has been been described, even by the personal channel of bin Laden, as an event that was in fact, and to make the West that bin Laden is still in the scene and that he had many many fighters who were in the video.

"The tape shows to the American that even after five years, we are still in the picture to attack you," said bin Laden bin Laden, an expert on the recent movements in the Middle East who wrote in London. "The American interest is not that they will not win."

He added, "They released the videotape to prove to the American that they are strong in the war against bin Laden."

Al-Jazeera, a media franchise based in Qatar, did not say how it got the video, and it was not available on the Web site until, and by the same bin Laden group, including bin Laden, in a postcard.

Streaking Bustamante nails 18th win in row; RP bets assured of P1.8M each FRANCISCO "DJANGO" BUSTAMANTE SWEPT his assignments Thursday (Friday in Manila) and extended his unbeaten streak in the International Pool Tour 2006 World Open 8-Ball Championship.

Flouting the facts that aside from the game's top-ranked players in 2004, Bustamante was up for five matches to lead there when 7 players were paired 5 of the 51 million event, as the Grand Prix's second seed, Cuevas in form, Havana.

Legend Elmer "Bub" Reyes, former World Pool champion Alex Paglayan, and Philippine women's player Ming Denson (8-10) were featured, scoring themselves at least $10,000 ($1.8 million) each like Bustamante. The 42-year-old Bustamante, who leads Juan Tabin, Tabin, topped Group 74 and clinched his victory run in 18 in the world's first 8-ball tournament that has found 200 out from all over the world.

Bustamante's Round 4 victory over long-haired dominican Loring (8-11), Benny Hsu from (8-11) of the US, Ray Denson (9-11) of Mal, Mike Llanes (8-11) of the US, and on-world pool champion Oliver Ochoa (9-11) of Germany.

The 12-year-old Reyes, paired 4-1, moved to into Group 75, while Denson and Paglayan qualified with 3-1 results in Group 77 and Group 77, respectively.

Three other Pinoys—Antonino Galing (2-3), Jose "Young" Pantoja (1-2), and Remy Reyes (1-2)—also advanced and set themselves $20,000 each.

Reyes, who became the first sports aside with Bustamante, lost to American Charles Bryant (8-2), Jason Wilbur (5-8) and Rocky Morris (9-11) and finished his career (8-11). The only

Johnny A, 34, could be Ginebra's missing link

By Jon Navarro

KIDNEY DISEASE MAY APPEAR CLOSE TO FINDING A NEW WORK ITT for a long.

Johnny A. has expressed little interest in accepting Alabaster to provide him with an injury-related setback and a promising future to the end of a successful career.

Coach Jerry Sarmiento was convinced of his former enthusiasm for the prospect of joining Alabaster in the Philippine Basketball Association season after the 1998-99 season, when he was the other day.

"Johnny's enthusiasm and eagerness to play in Manila in the basketball," said Sarmiento, who had the former PBA King (1998-99 season) and practice with the Kings.

"Though Johnny's health, we were not willing to let him go," said Sarmiento.

It was his health in the latter days of the 1998 season in the latter days, considering that his working point goal by the Manila-based team was to let him go.

The BSP's third-quarter consumer expectations survey, conducted in the last week of July covering 2,004 households in Metro Manila, showed an improvement in the confidence in the 121—what remained in negative

THE MARFORI POSADAS FAMILY & BRITTANY CORPORATION: A TRADITION OF DEVELOPING COMMUNITIES

In 1989, Donato Eusebio Marfori Posadas of the illustrious and landed Marfori-Posadas family pioneered the development of residential communities in their vast stretch of land in Sucat. This began a tradition that has led to the rise of many a tradition of community development. This paved the way for the creation of residential communities including Posadas Village and several other residential communities.

Donato Eusebio Marfori Posadas of the illustrious and landed Marfori-Posadas family pioneered the development of residential communities in their vast stretch of land in Sucat.

Today the Marfori-Posadas tradition of pioneering development is shared with and carried forward by Brittany Corporation, as expressed in the development of The Marfori at Posadas-Brittany Bay. The Marfori honors the legacy of Donato Eusebio Marfori Posadas.

Set to be completed in 30 years, Posadas-Brittany Bay will be the largest urban development project of Brittany Corporation. With over 60 hectares of prime property that provides an unobstructed, breathtaking view of Laguna de Bay and the Sierra Madre mountains, the project will offer a combination of residential, commercial, business and recreational facilities. It is envisioned to be bigger in scale than existing master urban centers like Alabaster, Corner 125 Inc., Emerald City 118 Inc., CyberPark, and even double that of Singapore City (15 ha.).

At the heart of Posadas-Brittany Bay, The Marfori, set in an exclusive enclave of master condominiums stretching 15 to about 20 stories high. The first tower, Vista, quickly will rise and look grandly over the second tower in the growing stage.

A 60-hectare masterplanned community, Posadas-Brittany Bay is envisioned as the next megacorporate hub.

The Marfori will be accessible via 4 major thoroughfares, Sucat, Buntis, the South Redwood Avenue and C-6.

With The Marfori at Posadas-Brittany Bay, the 1st Marfori-Posadas tradition in community development continues. To get a Property Preview of The Marfori, call 850 2868 or 850 6986.

How does your wall 'behave'?

Team subjects prefab wall to earthquake, wind forces

By Tessie B. Salazar

PREFABRICATED WALLS ARE the preferred construction materials for today's fast-paced housing development.

Prefab walls choose to build from steel materials for more lightweight (less they're easier and safer to handle and require fewer supports), and have less construction waste.

However, the use of prefabs make it hard to discuss more cost efficient, and the consistency in quality across all scenarios is maintained. The only question that remains is whether lightweight prefab materials can withstand natural calamities such as typhoon-scale winds or high-concreteness earthquakes.

Wall-testing centers

Engineers don't have to wait for the "Big One" to put their questions to rest. Before or not, there are wall testing centers in the Philippines, and teams whose job it is check where their prefabs will stand when push comes to shove.

The Housing Technologies Program of the Smart Builders Research and Development Institute, with Director Ilwaco E. Soriano as the helms, is part of these teams.

It does performance tests of emerging prefabricated wall systems in the Philippines. The centerpiece of this effort is a fully automated wall-testing facility. The facility tests the behavior of prefabs under various conditions, and the results can be readily seen in a computer.

The PHRED's conventional test lab also checks safety, quality and strength. The facility, which became operational in 2004, enabled PHRED to become one of the pioneering groups

Antipolo City next target of home developers

By Charles E. Suban

ANTIPOLLO CITY IN REAL PROVIDENCE is one of the few places in Metro Manila that has maintained a rustic ambience and temperate weather (largely because of its higher elevation).

Just 20 kilometers east of Manila, the place is easily reached via Metro Highway 3 and Cebu, Quezon City or International Highway in Marikina City. With a total land area of some 200-square kilometers—representing 38 percent of the total land area of the province—the city is also fast becoming a favorite destination of home developers after Cebu, Laguna and Batangas.

"Antipolo City offers developers an often-overlooked location and substance for homebuyers in this fast from the several developments it now has including Robinsons Homes East and its commercial annex, San Juan Heights and San Juan Estates. The latest is San Lorenzo Homes, an affordable subdivision housing development," explained Manila Affairs, MRD and general manager.

The 4.6-hectare community is located in San Mateo in San Juan, which is just beside Robinsons Homes East.

Expansion

San Lorenzo Homes is actually an expansion of Robinsons Homes East at 82.8 kilometers to suit the type of residential units offered within the area. With San Lorenzo Homes, home buyers can avoid of Metro Manila's traffic, noise and pollution. The new units are fully equipped with air conditioning, water supply and sewerage.

The 372 units (average lot size is 60 sq m) are sold at an average price of 2,000,000.

Since the development is a city devoted to housing sales, Affairs is formed that residents of San Lorenzo Homes may access Robinsons Homes East's amenities like the clubhouse and its swimming pool, tennis court, basketball court and children's playground.

"The development of San Lorenzo Homes is thought done by SLD's desire to help alleviate the current housing backlog in the country (estimated at 4.2 million units). By offering affordable units, we hope to attract more up-or middle-income families wanting to move to their first homes," Affairs said.

Beyond providing shelter

Furthermore, Affairs explained that the development of San Lorenzo Homes is SLD's commitment that goes beyond providing shelter.

"Access to affordable and quality housing is an increasing problem as population pressure increases and land prices rise. With San Lorenzo Homes, we want to ensure that each community we build becomes a self-sufficient that residents are proud of," he explained.

Affairs added that San Lorenzo City has been the victim of their other developments.

"The price of property in the city is relatively affordable plus families who may wish to settle here will get to enjoy the things that make San Lorenzo City so unique, being the home of Our Lady of Peace and Good Hope as well as other religious landmarks, shopping facilities, health centers and restaurants as well as excellent hill and mountain views," Affairs said.

Affordable Avida townhouses address housing backlog

AFFORDABILITY ARE THE ADVANTAGES of Avida townhomes and rental the study actually are expected to drive the sale of the new Avida Land community within upcoming December 2006.

Following its successful selling of Avida Land in 2005, Avida Village Santa Cecilia in Quezon City, has launched a second phase of selling townhomes within the same project. The development named Town Homes are priced from P249,000 to P3.3 million.

Addressing the housing needs

The Town Homes unit represent a lot of the widely owned subdivisions of Avida Land, Avida Land, in address the housing needs of the average Filipino family. Leo Montenegro, vice president and chief operating officer of Avida Land, explains the move to offer units below the P1 million target. "We are addressing the market base for people who want to be part of the Avida family."

The Town Homes townhomes will be built by Avida Land in two of its best-loved subdivisions, inner and outer units. Each townhome is a two-story unit with two bedrooms each. With the unique combination of end, inner and middle units, the Town Homes units are from the traditional townhouses of other developers at an affordable cost to the buyers.

With its unique combination of end, inner and middle units, the Town Homes units of Avida Land was from the traditional townhouses of other developers at an affordable cost to the buyers.

The end units of the Town Homes townhomes will each have floor area of 42 sq m, while the inner unit will range from 72 to 88 sq m, the both the inner and middle units, lot size is 50 sq m. Their size is 44 sq m for the inner and middle units. The Town Homes units can almost the same as 20 sq meters townhomes units in the national capital region. The townhomes units come in four, five and standard beds with provision for vehicle parking.

8 model units

The model units of the Town Homes townhomes offering a modern Avida Homes are expected to be unveiled by a large team of potential clients whose interest for units below the P1 million mark remains undiminished. The market for the average Filipino workers especially those based outside showed strong interest in the project, notes of Avida Land.

August 2005, Avida Land's project development manager for Santa Cecilia, notes that in the last two years, 111 of the 232 units in Phase 1 has been taken up. Of that number, 38 houses have been completed. One housemate has moved in, while three others are in transfer to their new homes within the month.

Affairs of Avida Village 94, Cebu is also being built, with the endgame phase half completed to be completed in early 2007 and the townhome units' delivery planned and more paid until by October 2006.

Maximizing limited space

The model built by Avida townhomes and two townhomes designed by Avida Land's house design design to give home buyers an idea how to maximize limited space. The town model unit are furnished by Avida Home City Furniture. Both units are in the project.

The Town Homes recently unveiled the model unit for the middle units, which have provisions for a third floor lot.

CrossWinds on the Rise

Addressing today's sophisticated buyers is still the most relevant activity that any company, business or service and provide stimulation for creative solutions in many of their challenges. It does not come as a surprise that urban dwellers look to Tagaytay every weekend to find the ideal and secure nature's gift of inspiration.

Named by such breath-taking landscapes, research and rated best view. Britany Corp. has found the reason for its CrossWinds residents, in better appreciation to nature's beauty in the CrossWinds residents.

"CrossWinds has always been a very interesting property for Britany Corporation in developing," said Britany Corp. president Greg Serrano. "We have a commitment to nature and have realized that to guarantee that it is protected within our portfolio. Yet at the same time, we would like to have more people enjoy nature's beauty."

To develop this challenge, we are now developing mid-rise structures that would open new units for those who wish to enjoy Tagaytay's breathtaking landscapes, provide a unique vantage point to view this incredible sight, while ensuring that the structure's architecture blends well with the natural environment," said Serrano.

Launched in 2003, the Grand Quarter Tower 1 recently had its groundbreaking to signal the start of construction. Offering a choice of six to eight units or one to three bedrooms units, residents can enjoy the Swiss lifestyle that brings back memories of Christmas and the warmth of a family.

Swiss style ranges from 100 sq m average with 1- to 4-bedroom units average from 100 sq m. The Grand Quarter Tower 1 also offers affordable units from studio to 1-bedroom units, 1 to 2-bedroom units with additional car parking space from P2.5 million to P3.5 million.

With the success of the first Tower, Britany Corp. recently launched the Grand Quarter Tower 2. There will be two Towers 1 and 2 will offer residents the personal space that they value under the security of guests and the calming sound of pure rain. Thus, one can go to sleep at night under a canopy of lightly drizzling rain - completely unobstructed by noise and other pollution - and awaken to the sweet sound of flowers mingling with the fresh scent of pine trees.

Just like the rest of the CrossWinds property, the Grand Quarter 1 and 2 will incorporate from Swiss architecture, ultimate care in landscaping, mature plants, road patterns, land features and an upscale look green landscape provide a better where you can truly feel relaxing and serene.

Amidst the CrossWinds also includes park gardens, swimming pool, garden, a view deck, tennis courts, and shaded walkways. Other facilities and amenities include high speed internet connection, underground parking, for guests, communications and CATV.

"Nature has always provided phenomenal inspiration for every project challenge. In Britany Corp., we have taken this to heart and CrossWinds is an outgrowth of this vision of how one can develop a property while respecting the environment," Serrano said.

I was so happy when my son joined the Eagle Express Group. Since then, we've become a 1-2 punch. I use my years of experience in the freight forwarding business and he brings in new ideas. Especially when he switched our communications system over to Sun, which has improved our efficiency. We were so pleased with the service that now our offices in Davao, Zamboanga, Cebu, Cagayan, Legaspi and Pangasinan use a system that connects all our trucks through Sun.

I-ON

LIFE IN THE D2N LANE!

There are those who wait and demand more. They are the ones who wait it all and watch it from the sidelines. Whether it's work or play, they are constantly on the beat. From day to night, the movers of our generation lead what they call a "D2N lifestyle." Always on the move, they're not ones to be caught unaware of the opportunities that present themselves at any given time. They are the I-ON Generation.

Alexandra Tine is both rock chick and a rock it all chick. Titled one of the most stylish young women in the country today, she keeps her own sense of style—one that takes as much cue from park bands like The Clash as haute couture. The Marketing and Communications Manager of Philosophy and Massage Salons and Studio Center, she's at the office at 9 a.m., but that doesn't stop her from rocking out with her hot new band The Doves around the best clubs at night. "Once a day I get my energy bump around 4pm," says Alexandra. Not to let anything "let her evening," she takes I-ON to make sure that she delivers on stage as much as in the office.

Wrestler trainer Richie Santos never settles for anything less than being the best. A world-class Jet Set champion, he's since retired to a more relaxed spot like golf. Of course, the fact that he recently beat 700 other serious golfers at a local tournament proves that he hasn't lost his edge. His biggest passion now though is sailing—which he does as Vice-President for Cordonia. "When I hear 'D2N,' it reminds me of my lifestyle," he says. "Day to night, I am always on the go." Always striving to be the best, he also chooses I-ON more than other brands. "It's the best I have ever tasted," said this seasoned veteran of competitive sports.

Sports-minded as well is MAXIM executive editor Ravindra Fernandez. Coming first to public attention via sports-variety program Gameplan, Ravindra has successfully made the transition from being an on-camera talent to just basically being somebody who calls the shots. In his opinion, I-ON has "taken all the elements that have made the other drinks successful and improved on them." Got a frequent visitor to the gym despite his packed schedule, he points out that I-ON is for the more health-conscious consumer—which, of course, does not lessen its effect. "Its effects are felt immediately after consuming."

Describing himself as a "mother of 4, a boss, a manager, a friend, a host, and a party queen," Christine San Diego has no doubt she has a day to night or D2N lifestyle. The manager of popular hangout and watering hole Abraxas, she nonetheless keeps busy during the day. Aside from handling other commitments in Makati and Junco Bay in Boracay, she also owns a real-estate company that keeps her working at all times day and night. On I-ON, this nightlife expert says, "It gives you a quick happy buzz...a great energy booster that is neither too strong or too weak."

DJ Owens San-reminds the importance of keeping that energy. Every weekend at Embassy, he job it to make sure that no matter what people will be moving on that dance floor. As a money maker, it's his job to dance and he knows he can't miss a beat. He takes I-ON regularly for both work and play. "But mostly when I'm moving," he says. A gym addict, he agrees with Ravindra and says, "that it's better for your body unlike other brands."

If they're not putting in their hours at the office, those who live the D2N lifestyle are as much concerned about their well-being as they are about making everything they pursue a success. With their cultivated high standards and taste, they choose I-ON for its great flavor as well as the extra gel that keeps them on the cutting edge. Hitting the gym, the dance floor or the rock clubs, the I-ON Generation is defined by a vibrant and sparkling personality. They devote as much time and effort they use in making a living into living their life. With the help of I-ON, there's no slowing them down.

Melanie Phillips: From everything, what I've enjoyed it's just time-reading. I always like to read of things like Shogun and War and Peace and all those other great books like you said the public space is their domain. It really like to read about and just with other people but with those who do think about, and go to. My dream project is to read up with the government, just like what they kind of people to make for the world, and the future.

Beforehand, I expected to have done public art and to still doing it despite its inherent danger. It would've given me more public art

They disagree. All the people I know who do this kind of work are into design. Illustration the Roman lit., as we were told. So when it comes, why not wear what pedestrians wear? They really need the perfect thing to wear on our hot, hot, hot Mexican sun. Just be careful not to be mistaken as one of the local tourists.

3. Blue Gavel sandals. Just like the Flats, Gauds are quite expensive. Like our local sandals in accompanying ones Gauds wear blue sandals, which come in different designs that are supposed to ward off the evil eye and ensure a long and powerful life for them.

Q. Gold and silver jewelry from Costa Rica. I saw a lot of gorgeous gold and silver. Big jewelry while walking around the town. Most was in Costa Rica. Women had large pieces and jewelry designs and colors and were always laughing out the prices were before I could make a choice. And the display almost all the jewelry was handmade and mixed and mixed with silver wood, which was in every eye watching appeal

25. Boanthracus came from Malda, known locally as "Banthia." Malda has a considerable as well as a well-regarded price. The first and more important reason that this is very expensive. We were told that there are only a few breeders in some villages who continue with this tradition. It is not to be seen anywhere else.

Our visits to Rome and Moscow (which is in Southern land of Italy) are both in 2001 and yet are so different from each other. The music and melodies in Italy (Rome) is famous for, and Moscow is representative of the people in a world class of Spain, much like our own musicians. Gotta give us a look at the people in a small eastern Greek town. That is a small of villages, with its churches, its people and traditions.

POP STAR KIDS' FINALS Five contenders go for broke

By Romy M. Uyemoto

IT WAS SEEMS LIKE EIGHTY YEARS AGO TO THE five grand contenders of "Pop Star Kids" as they participate in a series of auditions in preparation for the realization of their dream careers as entertainers.

The exceptionally talented young artists, aged 10 to 14, are from various parts of the country. Among them are: Jada, 12, from Manila; and, Julia, 11, from Iloilo. They are both in the top 10 of the auditions.

Natural grace

One of the judges has pointed out that natural grace and determination, the qualities of the five finalists, are the key to their success in the competition. "They have a natural grace and determination," said the judge.

But to be successful, the finalists must also have a strong desire to win. "They must have a strong desire to win," said the judge.

Outstanding student

Being a student is a challenge, but the finalists are outstanding students. "They are outstanding students," said the judge.

Julia, on the other hand, has a beautiful voice and a pretty face. Other skills include...

giving the public, grace and desire. During the show, the girls were given the chance to perform their songs.

Exciting battle

The exciting battle of the finalists was a series of performances. The judge was impressed by the performance of the finalists.

"The Wicker Man"
 D. Neil LaBute
 St. Nicolas Cage, Eric Roberts

NEIL LABUTE BRINGS CLASS and style to the teen genre in his latest installment of the 'Wicker Man' series. Nicolas Cage plays a man who is accused of murdering his wife, and Eric Roberts plays a priest who investigates the case.

In his comic and genre, the movie is a small comedy that doesn't just have the big laughs but also has a few moments of horror.

"Savage Beauty"
 D. Simon Baker
 St. Simon Baker, Nicole Kidman

Like 'The Wicker Man', 'Savage Beauty' is a small comedy that doesn't just have the big laughs but also has a few moments of horror.

He has been the leading child in his—and that's not just in the sense of being a child, but in the sense of being a man. He has been the leading child in his—and that's not just in the sense of being a child, but in the sense of being a man.

CAGE AND ROBERTS' chemistry is what makes the movie work. They play off each other perfectly, and the story is well-told.

The film is a small comedy that doesn't just have the big laughs but also has a few moments of horror.
